You Can Help!

Your contribution to the Library Legacy Campaign will help provide library facilities capable of meeting the challenges that our community faces now and into the future.

The Klamath County Library Service District has 12 branches throughout the county, and each branch has important capital improvement needs that go beyond the library's annual operating budget: bookdrops, room additions, remodels and technological upgrades. Your gift can help our libraries meet those needs!

In 1905, the first public library opened in Klamath Falls. Since receiving its non-profit status in 2004, the Library Foundation has successfully raised funds to improve many of the facilities that have served county residents for over 100 years!

Why does the library need extra funds?

While the financial future of the library system is ensured at current levels, the budget does not provide enough funding to make the capital improvements needed to serve our growing community.

Making these upgrades will allow the library to make the most of existing resources, operate more efficiently and serve Klamath County for years to come!

How you can help, and why it's important!

The Tree of Knowledge

The Library's unique "Tree of Knowledge," on display at the main Klamath County Library in downtown Klamath Falls, will flourish with each new leaf added to its beautiful burnished steel branches.

You can purchase an inscribed leaf for a pledge of $250 or more.

Honor the legacy of an organization, community leader or loved one and commemorate them on the Tree of Knowledge alongside others who have also cherished the tradition of public libraries.

Make a Pledge to Your Library!

Your support to improve Klamath County library equipment and facilities will encourage reading and life long learning for youth, seniors, and library patrons of all ages.

Whether it's a one-time donation or an ongoing commitment, your pledge is valued and will be put to use serving our community.

Your business can also make an in-kind donation for building supplies and other materials! Contact us for more information.
